Topic of the Month : Old Topic, New Info

2008 Economic Stimulus Act

This is going to be a hot topic all year for investors, and may be the last of the upper echelon tax incentives for awhile if the Democrats take office.

Buying a new car for your business? Buying new software for the company or for that independent contractor? Now's the year to do it, since items such as these qualify for the 50% depreciation granted by the Fed during 2008 only.

Ask your CPA about other types of personal property that will qualify, and then budget the improvements in the following months. Be sure to save your receipts for your CPA.

From the Editors

According to a study published in McGraw Hill's BusinessWeek this week, people aged 35-44 reported spending just less than 15 minutes per week reading for pleasure. You're already 4 minutes in by reading this newsletter!

In a time when the nightly news can just be a downer, and when information appears so slanted that it's hard to figure out who paid for the advertisement, we at Velocity encourage you to choose at least two publications every week and immerse yourself.

You'll soon begin to connect the dots and draw important inferences, especially if you take two different kinds of publications like the Wall Street Journal and Wired Magazine.

Knowledge is the only certainty, and certainty most valuable.

"Entity" is a legal term for a business structure. Entities can protect you from lawsuits, certain kinds of taxation and can legally reduce risk if entities house your investments.

The only company that we trust to make sure we have the right legal arrangement—despite changing business models and changing economies—is Your Entity Solution.

No other company you find online has the years and wealth of expertise, as well as the nationwide experience and connections to make sure you're legally protected.

Don't "learn the hard way." There is a solution: Your Entity Solution.
